AIMS AND OBJECTIVES

Sonarpur Mahavidyalaya is proud to organise a two - day seminar on “India and Her Neighbours: Exploring Its Social, Political and Historical Dynamics”. It is known to all that India shares a common socio-historical legacy with her neighbouring countries. The proposed National Seminar seeks to study and explore the changing dynamics and emerging contours of India’s relations with her neighbours in South-Asia, vis-a vis the political, historical and sociological contexts.

The seminar would precisely aim at investigating the various facades of this common bondage that India enjoys with her neighbours. Racially and ethnically too, the neighbouring states have sustained segments of Indian Diaspora. The seminar would also try to find out their problems and expectations and would try to analyse and highlight the need for evolving the ways of building mutual trust and solidarity.
